...TxDOT partnership

TxDOT trains employees to identify instances of human trafficking, and as recently as October 2022, TxDOT staff at the Gainesville Travel Information Center assisted two people who identified themselves as victims of human trafficking. The victims had walked inside after running out of gas, and TxDOT staff connected them with law enforcement.

Through its Human Trafficking Work Group, TxDOT has also helped raise awareness through multiple education efforts. These include participating in #WearBlueDay on social media and in the office, creating and providing educational resources like flyers and wallet cards, listing common signs of trafficking, and how to report any suspicious activity while on or off the job through iWatchTexas.

Texas consistently has the second highest number of calls to the National Human Trafficking Hotline (888-373-7888) every year. TxDOT has 12,000 employees spread out across the state. With that many people working together, we can make a difference.

Water Weekly

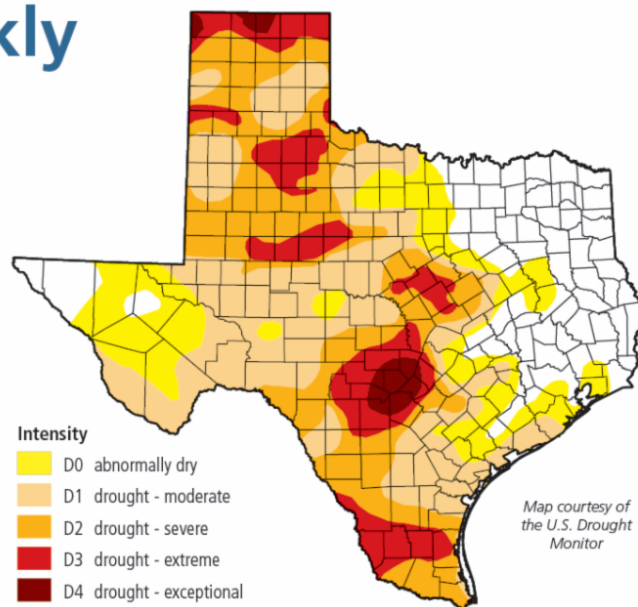

For the week of 03/13/23

Water conditions

For the fourth consecutive week, the area of the state impacted by drought has expanded. The latest drought monitor map, for conditions as of March 7, shows some contraction of drought in north central Texas but more expansion in the Panhandle and southern, coastal, and west Texas.

Drought conditions

- ◆ 64% now
- ◆ 62% a week ago
- ◆ 52% three months ago
- ◆ 90% a year ago

Fort Worth reservoir storage

TWDB chart

Fort Worth is on a dividing line between water supply recovery and continued depletion. Systems to the east (Dallas, Tyler, and Texarkana) are at capacity or much improved from a year ago. Systems to the west (Wichita Falls, Abilene, and Lubbock) have less water than a year ago.
