The Counterculture of Humanity

By James M. Decker

There's an idea afoot that the human touch is no longer necessary in much of life. Automation is in, people are out. Retail stores have self checkout lines. Fast food restaurants have a touch screen kiosk to order your food in lieu of a cashier. Countless meetings are now conducted by video conference, rather than in person. We can't leave out the so-called "artificial intelligence" craze. Siri and Alexa are there to answer your questions. Something called "Chat GPT" is apparently constructed to do your writing for you. I wouldn't know about that one. I have too many words in my brain, so it's really for the best that I type them out instead of ask a machine to create new words for me.

There's seemingly no end to the amount of work that machines can do.

To many in power, the best aspect of machines is that they

Obituaries

Bosworth

Gregory Paul Bosworth passed away Sunday, April 30, 2023, at Shannon Medical Center.

Paul was born on February 11, 1961, in Abilene, Texas, to Weldon (Sonny) Bosworth and Nell McAnally Bosworth. He grew up in Silver and in Robert Lee, Texas. He graduated from Robert Lee High School in 1980.

Paul proudly worked for Sunoco for 24 years until becoming a pumper in the oil field for the last 12 years.

He was preceded in death by his dad, Sonny Bosworth.

Paul is survived by his wife of 22 years Natalie Jameson Bosworth, and her daughter, Kailee Radloff and children, Kristen Moreno and Karmen Radloff of Robert Lee; and his mother, Nell Kennedy and husband, Charles (Bubba) Kennedy of San Angelo. He is also survived by his brothers Weldon (Dub) Bosworth of San Angelo, Tommy Bosworth and wife Jessica and children Brayden Malloy, Brooklyn Malloy and Adyson Bosworth of Pensacola, Florida; Brent Kennedy and wife Shannon and children, Brennon and Sutton, and a very special nephew, Cole Bosworth and wife, Amber and children, Wyatt and Avery.

Paul's zest for life didn't go unnoticed by his many friends and family. He loved his work and took pride in doing his best and having fun in every aspect of life.

He loved to barbeque, golf, fish, go to the beach and to the casinos. He loved visiting Fredericksburg and Ruidoso, New Mexico. In his glory days, he enjoyed water and snow skiing, as well as scuba diving in Cozumel, Mexico. He always like to talk about playing football with his classmates.

The world has lost a one-of-a-kind, generous and great man with a good sense of humor.

A celebration of Paul's life will be held in the summer of 2023.
