Robert Lee Cemetery Association needs assistance

There are several curbed lots at the Robert Lee Cemetery

Yard of the Season! The results of the Restoring Bronte Foundation's (RBF) spring "Yard of the Season" for Bronte are in, and the winners are Don and Joyce Bailey at 401 Key Street in Bronte.

Competition was keen, as five yards were nominated and all of them were equally beautiful! Those nominees included the homes of Jim and Monica Allen, Jeff and DeAnn Lee, Fran Crumpler, and Ashley Graham. In addition to the nominated yards, the judging team traveled throughout Bronte to view other yards and found nine others that were outstanding! Criteria for judging the Yard of the Season included a well-groomed lawn and trimmed trees and shrubs, and bonus points were awarded for flowering plants, planters, rock features, or other sculptures or yard art that balanced with the overall look.

The team also made a special designation this quarter, and would like to recognize the home of Glenda Draper with an "Angel Garden" award. Glenda passed away a few weeks ago from a long, arduous battle with cancer, but her yard is beautifully manicured and blooming and a living testament to her many years of loving gardening.

Congratulations to Don and Joyce Bailey for winning this quarter's award! They received a $50 "Bronte Bucks" gift certificate for their efforts; however, they have donated the certificate back to the RBF for use in their many community projects.

The next "Yard of the Season" will be named in August, so keep spreading the word as we enter the summer months.

identified by September 1, 2017.
